

A Message from Our Founder

I am Adriana Cáceres-Centeno, founder of Nina To The Rescue.

Nina To The Rescue was born from something very simple: my love for animals and my conviction that every one of them deserves to be treated with compassion, respect, and dignity.

For years, I have dreamed of doing something that goes beyond helping one animal at a time. My hope has been to create opportunities that can bring a real and lasting change, especially in communities where overpopulation, abandonment, and limited access to veterinary care continue to affect thousands of animals.

I firmly believe that the love, respect, and empathy we learn to feel for animals also strengthen our capacity to love and respect other human beings. To me, fostering a compassionate relationship between people and animals not only contributes to animal welfare; it also helps build more caring, responsible, and humane communities.

I also believe that part of our evolution as a society is recognizing our responsibility toward other species. As human beings, we have an extraordinary ability to create, transform, and accomplish wonderful things; and I believe one of the greatest expressions of that ability is using it to think not only of ourselves, but also of the well-being of the other beings with whom we share this world.

As a Salvadoran, bringing this work to El Salvador has a deeply special meaning for me. After years of planning, and finding people who share this vision, we are taking one of the most important steps in the history of Nina To The Rescue: our first large-scale spay and neuter campaign in El Salvador, Campaña Dr. Jeff por el Bienestar Animal, with the goal of providing 900 free spay and neuter surgeries.

But for me, this is only the beginning.

My wish is that Nina To The Rescue can contribute not only to saving and transforming lives, but also to creating a culture of responsibility, education, and empathy toward animals. I dream of a future in which fewer animals are born into abandonment, more families understand the importance of protecting them, and respect for animals becomes a natural part of the values we pass from one generation to the next.

Thank you to every person who has believed in this project and who has offered their time, knowledge, support, or a donation. Every act of generosity brings us a little closer to the world we dream of building.

A world with more compassion for animals is also a world with more compassion for one another.

With love and gratitude,

Adriana Cáceres-Centeno
Founder, Nina To The Rescue